FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Time Entry & Management with ProjectReady & SharePoint
Time Entry & Management for all your internal & external resources across projects

NEW YORK, NY – May 2018 - ProjectReady Central™, a leading project management and document control solution announced the release of their newest feature Time Entry & Management.

In today's enterprise, you need a central, governed way to assign, manage and define tasks related to a project as well as track time against those tasks. With ProjectReady Central you can now bring tasks, time and content together for your employees and consultants regardless if they're internal or external to the organization. Enter time directly against tasks inside of ProjectReady & end the content chaos around your project. With ProjectReady, gain clear control & visibility into your projects progress, budgets & time before its sent to billing.

For customers who work with external vendors and contractors, such as those in the AEC (Architecture, Engineering, Construction) industries, the solution delivers a great way to gain full visibility into your project and an easy way to account for billable time & tasks from external resources. This eliminates the need for separate systems and gives you greater insight & control over your projects.

Users need to only learn and access one system driving ease of use and user adoption and delivers one version of the truth to business owners and stakeholders in the project. Additionally, the flexibility that ProjectReady Central with SharePoint provides allows you to seamlessly export and upload information into project accounting systems if necessary.

Time Entry & Management with ProjectReady Central Delivers:

- Marries the Task & Content Management capabilities of SharePoint with Time Entry
- One place to manage all aspects of your project - time, tasks & content
- Capture internal & external consultants time in one place across projects
- Simplified user experience drives user adoption & efficiency
- Easily administer & review tasks & time before it goes to accounting
- Address multiple ERP's as in M&A's with one process
- Eliminate the cost of unnecessary licensing & modules for time entry

ProjectReady Founder and CEO Joseph Giegerich stated, "The Launch of Time Entry & Management for ProjectReady Central is an exciting release for our customers and a huge step forward in delivering ProjectReady's goal of unifying all project processes & information regardless of where it resides, ending content chaos.
